As I sat down at the computer to review the episodes of my life, measure its impact, and to bring some element of closure to my life-quest for the reasons behind my thoughts and to remember how I arrived at the title Fleeced, it occurred to me that I have spent all of my life strengthening others; providing information for them by summoning the Spirit within to access the strength of my mind, to solve problems related to their everyday lives. Ultimately, people had me solving the problematic stages of their lives using my God-given talent. I saw my thoughts materialize in others lives bringing improvement to their lives; advancing stages of their lives as recipients of the information; bettering themselves at my expense. The investment in others caused insurmountable stress to my life as the giver. There are various definitions of the word fleeced, however; my choice is to use deprived of belongings by fraud, hoax or the like.
